The Campus
"There stands a college on the hill."

PREFACE

THIS IS INTENDED TO BE A YEARBOOK, nothing more. It departs from the traditional approach of disguising a record of the school year as a boat, a plane, a trip to Mars or a three act play. The editors worked toward this goal: that this book should not only record life at Park College during the academic year of 1947-48, but also should be representative of the basic ideals and uniquenesses that have prevailed on the Park campus from the time of its founders.

Traditional type faces, conservatism in layout, and simplicity of design have been used to give the book some air of permanence; to clothe it in some of the dignity of appearance that is an essential part of every educational institution. Within the limitations of time and finance binding the staff, every effort has been made to have the 1948 Narva an example of good bookmaking, a volume which will stand on the reader's library shelves for years to come and hold its own.

I. ADMINISTRATION - FACULTY STUDENT LEADERS

THESE are the leaders, the people whom we confide in when we have difficulty, whom we gripe to when we think things should be remedied, and whom we hate when they personify red tape. From them we expect sympathetic action, understanding, guidance, and results. Sometimes we aren't completely satisfied with the results, but the people in positions of leadership are always trying. Some of these are students, some faculty and administration. Working together with a maximum of participation of both groups in college affairs, they have given us a college year sparked by new ideas and dedicated to traditional principles.

Glimpses of Inauguration Day events

Dr. J. L. Zwingle

President Zwingle came to Park in June, 1947. Coming to Park in a time of crisis such as most colleges are facing in the post-war world, Dr. Zwingle faced the tremendous task of building a college program to fit the needs of an increased enrollment.

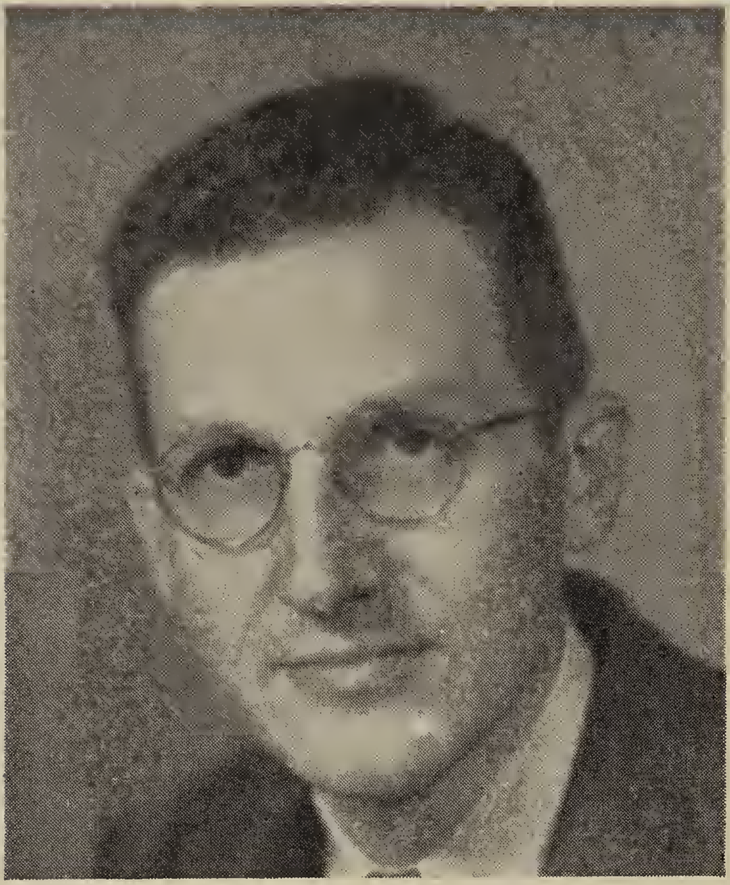
As president, Dr. Zwingle has been a busy man. In addition to sincere efforts at increasing participation of students and faculty alike in college affairs, he has made many trips to visit the various alumni organizations throughout the country, stimulating their interest and keeping them informed on the affairs of the college.

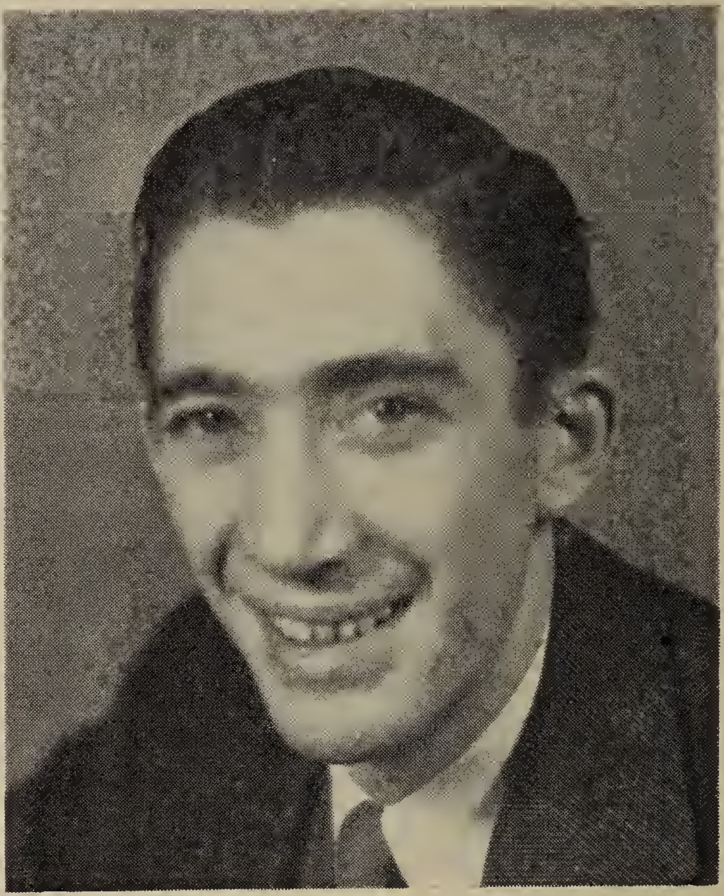
Dr. E. M. Fleming

The role of Dean of the College is never an easy one. Dean Fleming although new to the job, has demonstrated his ability to cope with the problems which come his way. Conferences with students, guidance of the academic program of the college, and teaching some history courses delayed the working out of some of the lesser routine matter, but the Dean's office is moving toward a smoother efficiency.

Mr. James H. Griswold

As Business Manager, Mr. Griswold holds the unenviable position of managing the affairs of a college beset by the rising cost of living in every field. In spite of the difficulties of his post Mr. Griswold finds time for "bull sessions" with anyone who cares to see him, and has shown himself always ready to help solve problems which may arise in any area.





EDWARD M. CARTER

As Dean of Men Mr. Carter is in charge of men's dormitory and sports regulations. His work, in an advisory capacity, with the Student Council, as well as private counseling brings him into close contact with the students. He is an assistant professor of psychology. As chairman of the Admissions and Scholarship Committee he is working to establish a more highly selective admissions system.

HOMER L. WILLIAMS

From 1923 until 1947, Mr. Williams was professor of sociology and chairman of the sociology department. Since 1947, as Registrar he records grades, evaluates transcripts, and determines scholastic classifications. As Director of Admissions he contacts prospective students, working through the Admissions Committee.

ARTHUR N. FERRIS

Since assuming the position of Director of the Industrial Program, January 1, 1948, Mr. Ferris has been working with Mr. Griswold, Mr. Midwinter, and Mr. Ringer on developing the work program. In general charge of the work program, he is working on matters of policy, now in a state of transition, and is supervisor of the buildings and grounds.

JESSICA LINNEMAN

As Dean of Women Miss Linneman is a member of the Administrative Council and chairman of the Personnel Council. Her department handles the regulation of college community life. She is director of the health program, in charge of the hospital, and chairman of the Student Enterprise Fund. As associate professor of psychology she is a member of the Curriculum Committee.

RAY M. STEPHENS

As Admissions Counselor Mr. Stephens interviews prospective students in the high schools of the immediate four state area and attends College Day programs from Chicago to St. Louis. He keeps an active file on every student planning to attend Park College within the coming year. He is a member of the Admissions Counselors' Association, and co-ordinator of veterans' affairs for Park College.

J. FRANK RINGER

As Supervisor of Industrial Work Program since June 1, 1946, Mr. Ringer is in charge of assigning the student workers to their various positions. He takes care of the details of worker distribution, work changes, and all industrial operations during holidays. In 1948 he instituted the Industrial Work Rating Plan.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Under the leadership of student body president David McConaughy, the Student Council conducted an eventful and profitable year for student government at Park College. The Council consisted of Phoebe Smith, Eunice Evans, Janet Jones, Bobby LeBow, John Sefcik, and Lois Hansen. Lee Miller and George Olson served as freshman class representatives during the first and second semesters, respectively.

Spencer Cave Memorial Day, the Park College Directory, and the re-finishing of the Student Union room in lower Mackay resulted from Council planning and direction. The new Student Body Constitution was proposed and ratified under supervision of the Council.

MSGA

Inactive since 1942, the Men's Self-Government Association this year reassumed an active role on campus. Led by Bobby LeBow, the group acted in matters concerning student problems. With the aid of Dean Carter, the MSGA has achieved marked success in its dealings. Members were house presidents Bob Hannah, Joe Preston, Don Varley, Kenneth Hougland, Forrest Brown, Franklin Rainey, and Don Jenkins; and men-at-large Hal Woodward and Vincent Knarr.

WSGA

The Women's Student Government Association has dealt primarily this year with campus regulations. The women-at-large Audrey Oberhelman and Virginia Tooker, together with dorm presidents Maxine Drake, Judith Morgan, Rosemary Albertson, and Louise Mann have represented the college women in matters concerning women students. The WSGA, with the YWCA, sponsored a campus-wide meeting featuring Mrs. Sherwood Eddy as speaker. Dean Jessica Linneman served as advisor to the WSGA.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

An important resource for student opinion along the social line, the Social Committee meets with the Dean of Women to discuss and decide upon all-school social policy and program. Each club is represented on the council, and its major duty is to direct the social calendar and to sponsor the annual Mardi Gras.

CONSTITUTIONAL COMMITTEE

The Constitutional Committee under chairmen Tom Atkinson and Ken Hougland, began working on a new Student Body Constitution which would provide a foundation for student government and define powers and procedures compatible with effective self-government. About sixteen students served on the committee which presented the new constitution.

YMCA AND YWCA

The Park chapter of the Young Men's Christian Association is very active in the college social and religious life. Besides regular Sunday evening meetings, the "Y" sponsors chapel services, orientation week for freshmen, various other service activities, and beneficial campus programs. The "Y" operates in these many fields through its different commissions, any of which the individual member may choose to work on upon enrolling in the "Y". Cooperating with its brother organization, the activities of the Young Women's Christian Association are usually carried on in connection with it. The "YW" works on the same commissions and shares equal honors with the "YM" for service rendered.

2. THE STUDENT BODY

Books have their limitations, and we must admit that the presentation of panel pictures of the Park student body leaves much to be desired. We cannot hope to capture the elusive spirit that turns the whole student body out to clean up the campus, that makes us enemies during rush week and buddies thereafter, or to represent the intangibles that make the title "Parkite" a cherished thing for many people. We can only present the students in the most feasible way and accept its inadequacies. This we do, with the further statement that Park is its students . . . working, laughing, studying, playing, worshipping, singing . . . these are the students, life blood of the college.

SECOND SEMESTER STUDENTS

Approximately fifty new students joined the Park family at the beginning of the second semester this year. Some were not new to the campus, having been enrolled here previously. Most of the newcomers, however, were apparently very camera shy, for those pictured at the left were all we could gather in two attempts to photograph the second semester matriculants.

Down at the station early to greet frosh; this is it kids, you're here; a helping hand from "Y" prexy Meyers; standin' in line for registration day; we put it in writing; "That's the first Quonset you come to, around by the Science Hall"; Park informality in an all-school picnic; another mixer in the Commons; "Air Raaaaid!"; "Button, freshman"; the frosh were tried and found not wanting; during rush week we all treated 'em right.

There they are—on third floor; "Let's see, what have we here?"; Candidate Ken looking serious; Russia at the Mardi Gras; Jamie solos in an OAC serenade; Bendix postlude; Frosh Neff posing on the farm gate; "Love's Old Sweet Song"; Whoops!; Where are your papers Carroll?; Get up off your knees; Park's peppiest cheering squad; The Nelson chorus line at the Mardi Gras.

III. Social Clubs and Social Honors

Athletics

THE SOCIAL CLUBS, with their rush week competition and their through-the-year working together, symbolize perhaps better than any other phase of Park life, the family-like atmosphere. Dances, shows, interclub parties, club affairs are the backbone of Park's social life. Club athletics are played with an underlying philosophy that "the game's the thing". Sportsmanship, clean playing, and a general spirit of just plain fun prevails at the club tangles in the field of sports. ACC, LEC, LLC, OAC, PCC, a myriad of letters that mean Park friendliness, cooperation and fun.

Alumni Hall

ANTHONIES

The Anthonies joined the Cleopatras in escorting "rushees" in a musical trip around the world. Piloted by prexies, Archie Vest and G. Wendell Tappmeyer, the club throughout the year has continued on jaunts through the social and athletic worlds, with stops at the Thanksgiving serenade, accompanied by falling snow; the annual Christmas dance, the "Snowball", with the lovely Carol Tarrant, the Queen of the American Royal, placing the crown of "Queen of the Snowball" on our even lovelier, Alice Dame; the Christmas party, courtesy of the host, LEC's. The soccer season found us well down the standings; basketball ended with a visit to second place. The softball season produced other pleasures, the club having gained many recruits while losing only one man from the team. The Anthonies, now only in their second year of Park livelihood, seem well on their way toward establishing themselves a niche in history, a niche not to be surpassed even by that of Anthony of Rome.

G. WENDELL TAPPMEYER

CLEOPATRAS

We started our second year of existence with the same "spirit of friendliness" for which we gained a reputation during our initial year's activities. During rush week this spirit brought into our ranks many new members eager to join with us in building our club.

Under the enthusiastic leadership of Oberhelman, Beers, Black, Rea, Hosie and McFarland, our first semester officers, and Enlow, McFarland, Banzett, Tamanaha, Dame, Beers, Liang, and Hosie, second semester officers, we engaged in many activities including a Thanksgiving sing, our annual Snowball formal, with Alice Dame as queen; an interclub party similar to one LEC's gave for us first semester; and the adoption of a club constitution.

We kept up our sports record, again taking the speedball crown, and doing very well in basketball.

"Laughing, loving, loyal" Cleos did much to help build the ACC's this school year.

LANCELOTS

In the masculine element of LEC, freshmen this year found a warm fellowship so characteristic of traditional Park spirit. With Clardy and Kirk as presidents the Lances met the challenge of older clubs with a second successful year. Lances helping as officers were: Brown, Thompson, Metheney, Overstake and Murguia. Lack of superior athletes brought more losses than victories in sports but passed on a real opportunity to future Parkites who choose the Red and Black.

Socially Sir Lancelot was seeking the companionship of Lady Elaine with at least one activity a month including a variety of parties. Climax of LEC social contributions was the annual Knightime, already a Park tradition, with its splendor of gallant knights and the fairest of ladies. Lances look forward to another year and to joining Elaines in raising even higher the LEC banner of Chivalry, Freedom, Truth, Courtesy, and Honor.

GENE HUFF

ELAINES

During the fall semester, with Shirley Nagley, president; Charlotte Housman, vice-president; Mary Elizabeth Philips, secretary; and Carol Vandebunt, treasurer, the Elaine club's second rush week was carried out. With the Lancelot club the policy of entertaining each of the other clubs was adopted. The first of these parties was a Christmas party for the ACC's. During the spring semester the LLC's, the OAC's, and the PCC's were entertained, in that order. With Mary Elizabeth Philips as president, Ruth Wallace, vice-president, Eva Tyree, secretary, and Jacqueline Sinks, treasurer, of the Elaine club, the Lancelots and Elaines gave the annual Knightime Ball. The club sponsors are Mr. and Mrs. Midwinter, Miss Gertrude Smith, and Dr. and Mrs. Rundle.

LOWELLS

Another chapter was written in the past year concerning a club of Blue and Blue. A chapter filled with dances, picnics, serenades, and rush parties, all interwoven with old traditions and new ideas. Balanced with new students and fresh thoughts and the time tested methods of the old, rush week and the Sultan's Harem lured the new into the club. The new joined the old in serenades and all the other activities which made Lowell club the club of achievement. Soccer season and the Lowells carried their colors to a co-championship. Basketball rolled in and out leaving the Lowells with a .500 average. Major or minor sport, the club was always a threat to title aspirants and made athletics truly athletics. Wander was our fall session president and Scantlin was elected in the spring. Merrill, Pittenger and Preston supported the two. This year was a good year. The next better yet for Lowell club.

JIM SCANTLIN

LUCERNES

Memories in review from the girls of Blue and Blue reveal another year of pleasant episodes. A picnic climaxed rush week and new Lucernes took their vows while candlelight emphasized the beauty and warmth of the occasion.

Club activities, including a sunrise breakfast at Lowell Point in the late fall and the traditional Rose Tea of early winter, were directed by capable and charming Mary Furnish and Mary Lou Wood. The most memorable event of the year was the annual Sweetheart Ball. Lovely Jeanette Spier was selected as Sweetheart of the Blue and Blue.

The Lucerne girls were strong contenders in sports and loyal supporters of their brother club. Serenades, Lowell Sings, and the brother-sister club devotion indicate to LLC that the best things in life are really free.

ORIONS

"Rocky" and Mark Atwood led the Orions through a successful year in '47-'48.

With horns locked and the score tied, the Lowells and Orions paused in traditional Park fashion to share a double crown in perhaps the most terrific soccer season of all times. The Orions were also victorious in the basketball season. Straight shooting, fast rebounding, and teamwork gave the Green and White ultimate championship.

The Show Boat, which was given in February, was one of the most surprising and highlighting entertainments of the school year.

There were serenades, picnics, and club programs; but the culminating event, the OAC Spring Formal, was just the thing with which to end the year.

"On Orions, on Orions".

AURORAS

Members of the Aurora club this year came out in force to show a well fortified Park spirit. In sports the girls of Green and White tied with the Lucerne club for second place in the speedball tournament, and placed five girls on the all-star team. They forged ahead to cop first place in basketball. On February 28, the Auroras joined their brother club to present the all-school event, "Showboat". Joining the other four social clubs of the campus, the Auroras helped make a success of the second annual Mardi Gras on March 13. On May Day they helped present the OAC annual all-school dance, Blossomtime, in a setting of spring flowers in the gymnasium. Leading the club in this successful year were presidents Annette Taylor and Betty Anne Polley, vice-presidents Margaret Haston and Frances Harris, and secretary-treasurer Marion Chapman.

PARCHEVARDS

The Parchevards, under the dynamic leadership of their president, Al Sachs, found most of their time taken up during the first semester by the annual dance, "The Underwater Dreamland", and an unforgetable rush week program. In a true portrayal of the "PCC Spirit" the Callios entertained the Parchies at a Christmas party resplendent with good will, good times and mistletoe. A lively rush program in the Commons started the second semester for the incoming students, and gave the prospective PCC's a good look at the club, and its new president, Norton Cooksey. The traditional Parchie Varsity, this year something completely new and broader in scope than ever before, kept the whole club busy save to take time out for a return party by the men in honor of a pretty swell sister club. With commencement day, the Parchevards chalked up another year of what might almost be called traditional fellowship.

CALLIOPEANS

As school closes, the Calliopeans look back on a year of fun, laughter, and growing friendships. The presidents, Stuart and Bloys, have led the Callios in a spirit of friendliness and service, radiating over the campus. The Underwater Dreamland and riotous Parchie Varsity stand out as high points to the Parchie-Callio family. Turning out for all sports, the Calliopeans became winners in sportsmanship and enthusiasm though not in actual points. Serenades, laughter, and rousing cheers for our Parchie athletes still ring in our ears. The music of Purple and Gold floated down from the Meetin' House at Christmas time, bearing with it the understanding spirit of friendship which thrills every Calliopean girl. "Never shall our colors fall—we revere the Purple and the Gold."

BEAUTY QUEENS

Queen of the 1948 Narva, Lois Hansen, Elaine, was chosen by Mr. Earl Carroll of Hollywood, whose Earl Carroll Theater Restaurant bears the motto, "Thru These Portals Pass the Most Beautiful Girls in the World." From the candidates Mr. Carroll selected as second and third Phyllis Elliott, Lucerne, and Jacqueline Rea, Cleopatra.

On these pages we present the chosen representatives of beauty, charm, and grace at Park. You know these three as your friends and classmates. Now meet them as queens of royal beauty.

The other contestants, whose loveliness you know, were Janne Adler and Anne Pawley, Auroras; Dorothy Rosché and Helen Jean Stuart, Calliopeans; Janet Louise Beers, Cleopatra; Eleanor Koste, Elaine; and Jeannette Spier, Lucerne.

SOCCER

When the vikings were trying to invade England in the 11th century, the capture of a Viking by the Saxons occasioned a game of football with the prisoner serving as the ball. Later the game was accelerated by beheading the victim and using only the head as the object of booting. This was the conception of a game which was to carry on through the centuries; the only major game which is today played on an international scale. When the Lowells invaded the Orion stronghold of soccer they met a team that was near invincible. Each team won one from the other and played to a deadlock in the final encounter. So the season ended, the Blue and Blue and the Green and White as co-champions. The Parchies, after being a constant threat throughout the season, finished with .500 average, followed by the Lances and Tonys who won one each. Engweiler, Gealy, Kamitsuka, and Lindeman were the Lowell all-stars. The Orions placed Jenkins, P. Smith, Sivas, and Laredo, the Parchies added McKie and Haines while the Red and White Tonys were represented by Perry.

SPEEDBALL

Speedball, this last year, challenged all participants to great deeds. The competition was stiff, but the sportsmanship exemplified by all teams was commendable. There were no major mishaps to mar the '47 season.

The Auroras topped the Callios 5-0, in the opener, both teams playing hard ball. As the season progressed the playing improved, so that late in October as the three top teams fought it out for first place, the quality of the games was the best.

The Cleos took the speedball championship, remaining undefeated all season. Their superior teamwork placed four of their players on the all-star team. Oberhelman, Beers, forwards, and Jacobs and MacFarland, backs, represented the Cleos. The second place Lucerne team placed Orrick, forward, on the all-star team, while the third place Auroras placed Haston, forward, Harris and Hutton, backs, and Gray, goalie, on the all-stars.

BASKETBALL

WITH THE FELLOWS

In the fellows' basketball tournament it was the Orions all the way, but the way wasn't easy. The three top teams, the Anthonies, Lowells and Orions showed some fine playing throughout the season and several games were anybody's game right up to the final minutes of play. The Lowells were out of the running by the time the second half started and a victory over one of the cellar teams gave the Orions a mathematical championship about the middle of the second round of play. In the last game, on which no standings depended, the Orions and the second place Anthonies battled out a three-minute overtime game with the close final score of 51-49 finding the Orions on top. All-star choices this year were made by a picked board of "experts" selected by the MAB. Each man chose a first and second team and the votes were correlated and tallied by the MAB to give the players receiving the highest number of votes a berth on the all-star team. All-star players were as follows: First Team: Wallace, Lowell; Hall, Anthony; McKie, Parchevard; O'Hare and Melone, Orions; Second Team: LeBow, Moussioux, and Ladd, Anthonies; Lazarus and Bender, Orions.

WITH THE GIRLS

Even more closely matched than the fellows' teams, the girls' basketball squads played an exciting tournament with the Auroras coming out on top, the Cleos in second place, and the Lucernes in the middle spot. Any of the three leading teams had the potential to beat any of the other teams on a given night, but the Auroras cashed in on their potential more often. New material in the second semester helped all teams, giving the Callios a surprising victory over the title-contending Cleos late in the season. The championship game, last of the second round, was a close fought match between the Auroras and the Cleos. The score see-sawed back and forth all during the game until the closing minutes of play when two quick baskets put the Auroras four points ahead to give them the game by a 33-29 score. All-stars were chosen by secret ballot of all the persons participating in the season and the final tally showed the following names on the all-star list: forwards: Oberhelman, Cleo; Green and Taylor, Auroras; guards: Ferrill, Lucerne, Tate, Aurora; Jacobs, Cleo. Honorable mention was given to the following: forwards: Steele, Aurora; McFarland, Cleo; Orrick, Lucerne; guards: Wright and Gray, Auroras; Gaenzle, Cleo.

VOLLEYBALL

WITH THE FELLOWS

The Lancelot volleyball team took the championship in a single round robin which was studded with exciting games. In the final game of the season they met a spirited, underdog Parchevard team that was trying for a chance in the playoffs. The once-defeated Parchies lost the first game of the series 15-12, but they came roaring back in the second contest to overwhelm a shocked Lance team, 15-1. Although leading in the final contest 12-7, the Parchies were unable to maintain their winning ways and lost the game and their bid for the playoffs 14-16. Long John Sefcik, captain of the Lances, was instrumental in the victory, just as he had been an important factor in the earlier ones. Woodward, de la Rosa, and Monroe provided additional punch on a team that proved hard to beat.

The Orions were lodged in the second place berth when the round closed. Sometimes hot and seldom cold during the season, the Orions lost their opportunity to win the championship when the Lances beat them two games to one. Later they whipped the Parchevards twice. The Parchies, the boys that never say die, were trying for an upset against the Lances but were not quite equal to it.

The final standings:

	WON	LOST
Lancelots	4	0
Orions	3	1
Parchevards	2	2
Lowells	1	3
Anthonies	0	4

WITH THE GIRLS

The short, one-round, girls' volleyball season passed almost unnoticed in the post-spring vacation, pre-comprehensive period. The Auroras chalked up another seasonal title by taking the top spot in the volleyball tournament.

In taking their second championship of the year they ended the season undefeated. Their squad was tall and after a couple of games they used fairly consistent team play. Burrell, Tate, Green, Haston and Harris showed up well.

Captain Hazel Langford was the peppy spark of the Elaine team which registered wins over both the Callios and Lucernes. Orrick, Russell and Barry led the Lucerne attack which threatened all contenders but failed to cash in on winning scores more than once.

The Cleos, led by Gaenzle, McFarland, Oberhelman and Harris ended the season in second place by virtue of good team play.

All star team members, chosen by ballot of all persons participating in the sport were as follows: Callio, Amy Lou Bloys; Cleos, Irene Gaenzle, Mary McFarland, and Audrey Oberhelman; Elaine, Hazel Langford; Lucerne, Fay Russell; and Auroras, Barbara Tate and Kathy Taylor.

The standings:

	WON	LOST
Auroras	4	0
Cleos	3	1
Elaines	2	2
Lucerne	1	3
Callios	0	4

The Athletic Boards

The Men's and Women's Athletic Boards, composed of two representatives from each club and a president for each board, functioned with ever-increasing efficiency throughout the year. Under the leadership of Gealy, Kamitsuka, and Haston, the boards served their purposes well by writing new by-laws, working out a new system for club and Park letters, pressing into circulation new and old trophies, and sponsoring a successful "Donkey Basketball" game.

Minor Sports

In addition to the four major sports tournaments of club competition, tennis, ping pong, bowling, and track events fill out the sports calendar at Park. In 1948, the Alpha Phi Omega, Boy Scout fraternity, sponsored the fall tennis singles tournament. Mary Jo Jacobs took the girls' championship, and Will Perry was top player among the fellows. "Jake" is a Cleo, and Will a Parchevard. Marty Seifer, Parchie, took the ping pong singles championship in the tournament sponsored by the Men's Athletic Board.

It is regrettable that the Narva deadline does not permit adequate coverage of the softball season. At press time, the outlook for the season is good and old man weather is co-operating to a degree unmatched in the last four years.

Bowling, after a futile attempt at inter-club competion, attracted enough interest in the spring for an eight-team independent league to play a handicap tournament. The results of this competition were not available at press time.

PERSONALITY

KING and QUEEN

Dick Kesel, Personality King of 1948. If there's anything Lowell going on you'll usually find Dick on the singing end. As song leader or entertainer, he's always been there to lend a tune to the occasion. Always ready to help out in a pinch, Dick is known the campus over for straight faced jokes in that soft voiced New Yorkese. Friendly and fun? Of course! Dick's the king of that good natured friendliness that means "personality".

This is Harriet Cavert. A Cleopatra, "Hitsy" may be short on inches, but she's long on wit and just plain good humor. Her friendly grin, and the sincerity behind it have endeared her to all—to those who see her haunting the Science Hall, to those who have met her through sports, those who have worked with her on the "Y" Personnel Commission. It is small wonder that "Hitsy" has been selected Personality Queen of the campus.

Who's Who Among Students

Eight students were chosen by a Student Council committee for inclusion in the 1947-48 "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges". All of them active in numerous extra-curricular activities, Dave McConaughy and Phoebe Smith were the 1947-48 president and vice president of the student body, while Russ Meyers was president of the YMCA and Marie Lipka president of the YWCA.

Student publications are represented by Yvonne Grigg, Narva editor-in-chief, and George Wander, editor of the Stylus. Janet Jones was WSGA president, and Ted Rosche, book store manager and all-star soccer player. Each one has been high in scholastic attainment and outstanding in qualities of character and leadership. They are representatives of the various campus activities.

IV. Workers and Worshippers

EVERY GENERATION OF PARKITES HEARS TALK of the "Park spirit". Nobody can tell us quite just what it is, but it's supposed to permeate the campus until it is felt by every student. Here is an attempt to present some of the tangibles that go into the development of the Park spirit. This is a section devoted to those things which belong to Park in a unique way and help to make our college a distinctive institution. "Fides et labor", faith and labor: this is the motto on the college seal. To the basic goals of the educational value of work and the essential need for a religious foundation for education Park has long been, and still is, committed.

Graham Tyler Memorial Chapel
"There is a place of quiet rest."

FAITH . . .

This year has seen a sincere effort on the part of both students and faculty to strengthen and revitalize the chapel programs. In the religious life committee and the chapel opinion council, students and faculty have met and exchanged ideas toward a common goal of a meaningful faith on the campus. Series of chapel programs were presented which were designed to integrate our interests in all areas with our basic religious philosophy. From the president, "Education must have a religious and ethical basis," to student organizations, "C.S.F. will present . . ." Park renewed its dedication to Christian traditions and faith.

. . . and LABOR

Most dramatic of the manifestations of the spirit of work on the Park campus this year was Spencer Cave Memorial Day, devoted to campus clean-up. Nobody had to work; it was strictly a volunteer proposition. We were obligated only to our own sense of campus integrity. But we worked, and worked hard, all day. Many of us paid the price of poison ivy, scratches, aching muscles, and overall fatigue. In the evening when the brush pile was lit and the flames leapt up, there was a feeling of comradeship around the bonfire that told us better than any words that "working together" was one of the intangibles we would always cherish in our memories of Park.

Spencer Cave, for whom we worked on campus clean-up day

"A Part Time Job for Every Student"

Not all the work on the Park campus is so dramatic as the Spencer Cave Memorial Day. Much of it is routine daily tasks that consume twelve hours of our time every week. In every department of the college, every office, building and activity, student workers are essential to the operation of the system. We aren't always enthusiastic about our work, we sometimes fail to meet our obligations when spring hits the campus full force, but in retrospect, the feeling of having been a vital cog in the building and operation of our alma mater is satisfying and pleasant.

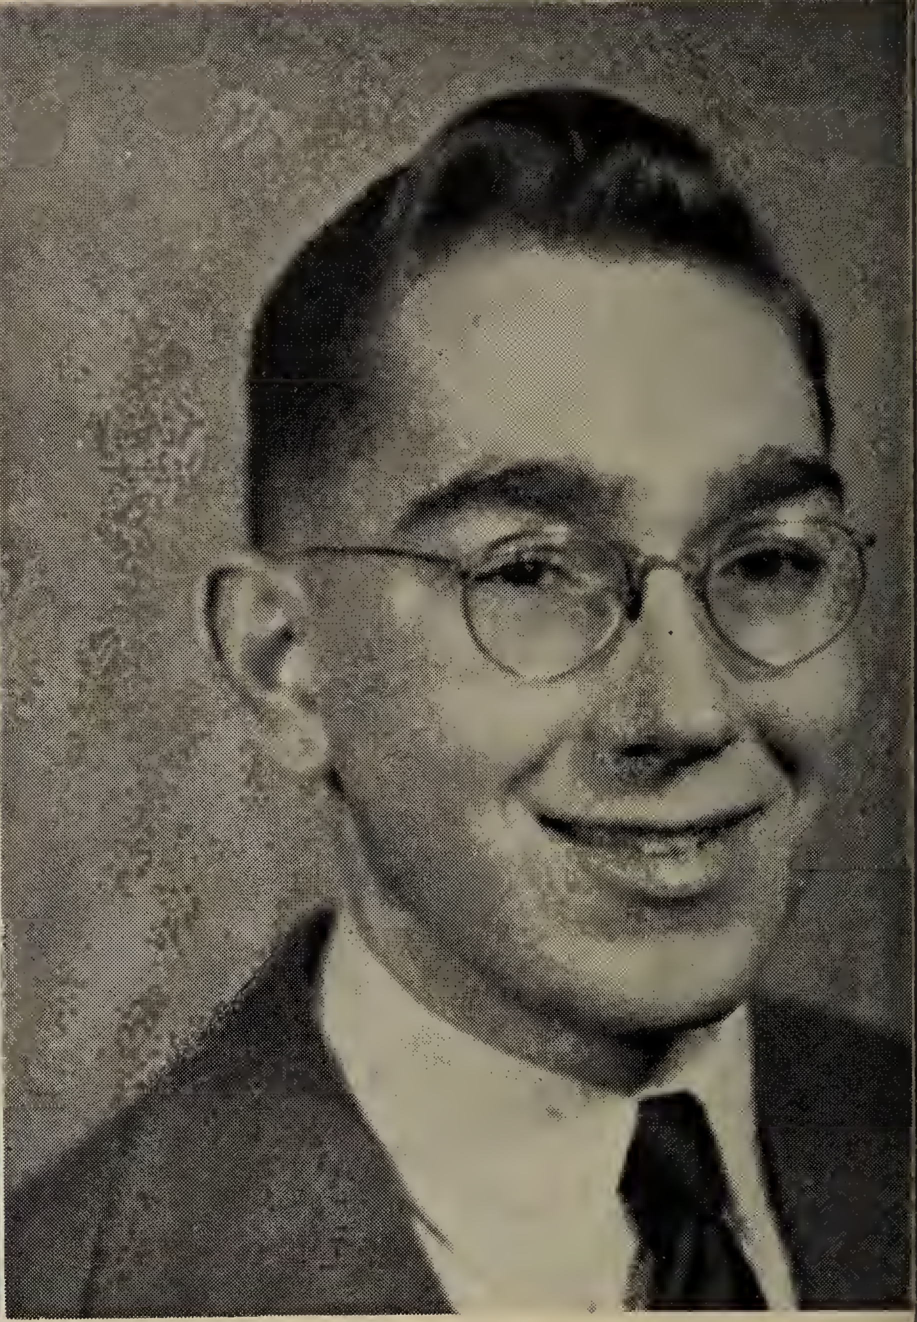
V. ACADEMIC HONORS

THE TOP SCHOLARS OF THE GRADUATING CLASS—our valedictorian and salutatorian—to these go a special place in the record of the school year. In the final analysis it is obvious to all of us that "putting first things first" on the Park campus, or any other college campus for that matter, studies come high on the list of basic goals of a college career. Those who have hit the top of the scholastic ladder have earned their recognition by an interest in gaining usable knowledge . . . an interest strong enough to be backed up by good hard work, diligent application, and consistent attention to their goal. Our hats are off to these students.

Wakefield Science Hall



VALEDICTORIAN

As valedictorian of the graduating class of 1948, Martha Malan has maintained her high scholastic record throughout her four years at Park. Aside from activities involving biological science, her major field, she has been a member of Zeta Kappa Epsilon, honorary history fraternity. She has also been secretary of the Senior class and chairman of the chapel opinion committee.

SALUTATORIAN

William Clelland III, salutatorian of the graduating class of 1948, during his four years at Park has been particularly outstanding in the department of physics, his major field. Besides keeping up with his interests in amateur photography and practical electricity, he has been active in the French club and the Science club.

ALPHA DELTA

Seven members of the class of '48 qualified to join Alpha Delta, local scholarship fraternity. All of these seniors had a total numerical average above 90. Three English majors, Janet Jones, Ruth Shifflett, and Fran Harris are on the list. The science department claims the valedictorian, a biology major; the salutatorian, a physics major; and Larry Breed, a chemistry major. Marie Lipka, third high in the group, represents the philosophy department.

VI. Extra Curricular Organizations

DEPARTMENTAL CLUBS AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS which have served specific interest groups are an important part of Park life. Unhampered by classroom time schedules or curriculum requirements, these organizations open a channel for activity controlled only by the students' interests. The little extra somethings . . . a stimulating outside speaker, a field trip, a social hour with people with whom one has a common interest but never manages to find time to talk with . . . these clubs fill a need, and their service is appreciated even by those of us who groan occasionally when the Commons public address system carries that demanding phrase, "There will be a brief but important meeting . . ."

Charles Scott Observatory
Inspiration Point

STYLUS

Endeavoring to present complete news-coverage of campus activities in an impartial and critical manner can be said to have been the primary purpose of the Stylus staff this year. With Wander as Editor and Kesel and Merrill as Associate Editors first and second semesters respectively the paper became a member of the Missouri College Newspaper Association during the year. A special edition in March honored Dr. Zwingle's inauguration.

C. S. F.

Christian Service Fellowship, just as its name implies, gave its services this year to the National Town-Country Church Institute by supplying students as ministers and teachers for small rural churches in the surrounding area. An average of thirty students attended morning devotions which are under the auspices of the organization. The weekly programs have been concerned with subjects on full-time Christian vocations.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

"Le Cercle Francais" was organized in order to give Parkites a chance to know and understand France and the French people. Membership is open to the entire campus; the organization is sponsored by Dr. Bunker and Mrs. Manoil and was under the student direction of Bruce, Curl, Davidson, and McDowell. Outstanding among this year's activities was a musical program in the style of a Parisien cabaret.

ENGLISH CLUB

The English Club, under the direction of Professor Ethel Lyon, is responsible for the publication of the Scribbler, a collection of original compositions by Park students. The 1948 edition was coordinated by Dick Kesel; other club leaders were Harris, Pajecki, and Shifflett. Membership in the English club is by invitation to English majors and contributors to the Scribbler.

NARVA

Working under a handicap of a late start the Narva staff was hard put to meet its deadlines. While Grigg and Scantlin pasted pictures, wrote copy and hounded the staff typists and writers, Lyons, as business manager took care of the technical matters and finances that seem beyond the capacity of editors. Sinks took over as second semester associate editor. Woodward and Rundus handled the bulk of campus group photography.

FUTURE TEACHERS

The Mary R. Harrison Chapter of the Future Teachers of America found a busy schedule on their calendar for the whole year with programs such as Judge Cowan, the Kansas City juvenile judge, speaking on juvenile delinquency to giving a tea for Parkville teachers, faculty of Park and practice teachers. One week was devoted to correlating the meetings and their contents of the year.

LOS CONQUISTADORES

"Los Conquistadores" is one of the largest and most active organizations on campus. The club is sponsored by Mrs. Robbins, and was under the student leadership of Blam, Carriddi, de la Rosa, Mellans, Rodrigues, and Rohwer. In addition to its Pan American Day activities, "Los Conquistadores" contributed to this year's dramatic season with the production of "El Cristo", a traditional Easter play of Spain, and sponsored field trips to Kansas City.

SOCIOLOGY CLUB

After several years of inactivity the sociology club has been reorganized with the purpose of acquainting sociology students with the possible vocations in the varied fields of sociology. Topics were discussed concerning the general field of sociology, psychiatric social work and child guidance by outstanding speakers from the University of Kansas School of Social Work and the Kansas City area.

Happy Thanksgiving
OAC

The ACC sings greetings; the OAC cheering squad looking unnaturally quiet; remember the flag on the tower? these are the Orions what done it; the LECs at the top for the rush week climax; rush week campus; dinner with the LLCs, formal; off to the skies for fun; Alice Dame being crowned queen of the Snowball by Carroll Tarrant, American Royal Queen; scenes from "Showboat."
